Washington DC, March 2, 2012- High polished bronze sculpture and metallic constructions and mono-print etchings are the highlight of this exhibition of work by internationally renowned artist Sica. Long time Zenith Gallery artist, Sica will be featured in a solo show, Sailing to Byzantium, curated by gallery owner Margery E. Goldberg. These sophisticated works draw inspiration from cultures throughout the world.

"I've fought with men and gods, I've weighed them well and found the sea more firm than earth, the air more firm than sea, and man's impalpable soul still yet more firm than air" My work as an artist has brought me to many countries-living in Saigon, Athens Greece, Koper Yugoslavia, London, and Madrid. Often referring to the theme in Greek Mythology as glowing inspiration, I dedicate this exhibition to the great love for the land that brought democracy, and love of simple forms and elegant material. In telling stories of tragedy and splendor, of thought and depth of humanity, I am always inspired by the simple forms that we never tire looking at, as I see again a new beginning of beauty in the work unfettered by trivial detail. As the poet Shelley's said "We are all Greeks" ...Sica
